SET MAY 3-5 AT UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA

MISSOULA--

A dance-sculpture-film presentation entitled "Eye of Darkness" will be presented Monday through Wednesday, May 3-5, at the University of Montana in Missoula by students from the Dance Division of the UM School of Fine Arts.

The "Eye of Darkness," a collaborative effort of Nancy Jean Brooks, choreographer and UM assistant professor of dance, and Karl Stein, a visual artist, will be presented free for all interested persons at 8 p.m. Monday through Wednesday in the Gallery of Visual Arts in Turner Hall at UM.

The project is supported in part by the UM Foundation. It deals abstractly with the space-time-energy components of the environment and native American mythology. The work includes a changeable sculpture environment, film, sound collage and dance.

Involved in the presentation are six dancers from the UM Dance Division--Sara Wilbourne, graduate student; David Hoene, junior; Len LaBuff, graduate student; Gail Grasdahl, senior; Julie Klickstein, sophomore, and Rebecca Boyles, senior. Stein will also dance.

The lighting designer is Gordon Stabler, a junior in drama. The sound collage is by Neil Hersig, a graduate student in drama.
